DELIVERABLE 7.15

GENEVA MUSIC & SCIENCE FESTIVAL REPORT July 30th 2016

1. Objective

The task related to the Geneva Science Music is part of the Workpackage 7 dedicated to communication, in particular to ensure the highest visibility to the project's main messages and activities, in a format adapted to attract the general public. Then among the number of communication actions, classical music has been selected to be a potential important cultural activity to support dissemination actions.

It is a well-known fact how music positively affects the intellectual development and improves the concentration. This relationship, appreciated by musicians and music fans is gradually gaining more attention also from the scientific research teams around the world.

This task proposed a unique way of integrating classical music in the promotion of education and public health by organising a piano concert where the classical piano pieces will be accompanied by the presentations of six international scientific experts.

Entitled "Concerto for Piano and Sciences" the event was the first scientific conference of this kind organised in partnership with the famous Verbier Festival near Geneva (Switzerland). Verbier Festival is one of the most esteemed classical music festivals in Europe. This original joint event created a unique opportunity for the public to attend to the combination of classical piano music and extremely informative public health interventions proposed by international experts.

Organized on July 30th 2016, each scientific talks were followed by a piano classical sequence played by an international virtuoso pianist.

Andrey Gugnin, a Russian pianist and laureate of several prestigious international piano competitions has been invited with the agreement of Verbier Festival governance to perform a classical concert divided in 6 sequences.

The topics presented by the public health experts during the concert-conference will touch more particularly on the aspects of individual and collective health (Dr Ariel Beresniak), the music's impact on the brain (Dr Pierre Lemarquis), the cognitive effects of the early music education (Hélène Vareille), the human epidemics of animal origin (Dr Donato Greco), the epidemics response strategies (Dr Sylvie Briand) as well as various defence mechanisms that the communities can employ against future pandemics (Dr Alberto Perra).

The organization of the Science Music Festival event was an important opportunity to communicate not only on front of a general public audience attending to the event, but also to the public audience worldwide afterward thanks to high quality videos posted in the ASSET dedicated YouTube channel.

Of particular importance, the Geneva Science Music Festival was a pivotal task to invite external expert with the aim to enrich the topics investigated in the frame of ASSET such as fighting against epidemics and pandemics.

1. Music festival as a tool of Mobilisation and Mutual Learning (MML)

Popular events such as Music Festivals have been proposed as tools for Mobilisation and Mutual Learning (MML) purpose. A Music Festival can be considered as one mechanism for effectively attracting citizens, getting their full attention, and tackling scientific related challenges by presenting perspectives, knowledge and experiences. Then this MML action would develop forms of dialogue and cooperation between science and society for an effective communication of key scientific messages.

Then a Music Festival used as a MML action contributes to further incorporating Science in Society issues leveraging public engagement, science education, and dissemination of scientific information.

The MML topics proposed in the frame of this task addressed the following Specific Challenges that are relevant with ASSET objectives and where cooperation between health organizations and the general public is sought:

- individual and collective health
- interest of music education in health
- epidemic and pandemic threats

The Music Festival task aims to propose commonly defined assessment framework/methodologies and management of multi-disciplinary solutions, which take into account general public concerns and Science in Society related issues (participation, inclusiveness, ethics, gender, communication, etc).

2. Festival Music & Conference Program

The scientific program included experts from the ASSET consortium and external experts.

Dr Ariel Beresniak, Data Mining International, Suisse

Wellcome and Introduction: Individual and collective health

Dr Pierre Lemarquis, Neurologue, France

Impact of music on brain: preventive and curative actions

Helene Vareille, Fondation Vareille, Suisse

Cognitif impact of musical education: an experiment

Dr Donato Greco, Epidemiologiste, Italie

Human epidemics from animal origins, Germs spillover

Dr Sylvie Briand, Organisation Mondiale de la Santé, Suisse

Responses to pandemic, a new orchestra for a global health

Dr Alberto Perra, Istituto Superiore di sanita, Italy

Three things everybody can do to defend the community from the next epidemic

The virtuoso pianist Andrei Gugin played the following program in synergies with the conference speakers: Piano: Etudes de Chopin 11-12 Opus 25, Sonata Romantica Opus 53 n°1, Medtner

4. Summary of the discussions

The general objective of the Music festival event has been presented by Dr Ariel Beresniak (partner DATA MINING INT) in charge of the organization of this task. Ariel Beresniak presented the concept of Science for the public, citizen responsabilization, education and preventive principles and the importance of exchanges with scientific.

The notions of individual and collective health have been explained using easily understandable statements such as : Health of individuals protect the community and the health of the community protects individuals.

Then Dr Pierre Lemarquis, neurologist, presented how brain functions are positively impacted by music. Studies using MRI suggest that nerve networks in different parts of the brain bear primary responsibility for decoding and interpreting various properties of music. Music can light up various brain centers. Then music has major effects on many aspects of health, ranging from memory and mood to immunology and cardiovascular function.

Helene Vareille from the Vareille Foundation presented the positive impact of music education on cognitive functions with an experiment on a sample of childrens in Switzerland. Learning music facilitates learning other subjects and enhances skills that children inevitably use in other areas. Neuroscience research that children involved in music have larger growth of neural activity than people not in music training.

Dr Donato Greco (partner ZADIG) presented the importance of germs in the ecological environment of humans . Germs are indispensable in life and are not only pathogens. He explained the notion of germ spillover with examples in Ebola and AIDS.

Dr Sylvie Briand (WHO) presented the current situation of epidemic and pandemic in the world with the impact of travelling for disseminating epidemics. The example of the Pandemic Influenza Preparedness (PIP) framework has been explained. The PIP Framework brings together Member States, industry, other stakeholders and WHO to implement a global approach to pandemic influenza preparedness and response. Its key goals include

- to improve and strengthen the sharing of influenza viruses with human pandemic potential;
- to increase the access of developing countries to vaccines and other pandemic related supplies.

Dr Alberto Perra (partner ISS) concluded in presenting the notions of communication issues during pandemics and the role of citizens. Key actions to be implemented during a pandemic has been presented such as improving citizen responsibilities, improving official communication transparency and credibility, and improving inter-sectorial collaboration.

YouTube broadcasting

The event has been video and sound recorded to be included in the dedicated ASSET YouTube Channel in 12 sequences.

Conclusion

Because of the originality of this approach, it was quite difficult to organize this task, in particular to collaborate with well established Music festivals in Switzerland. The Verbier Music Festival is one of the most wellknown festival in Europe and has accepted to collaborated with ASSET to organized this event. The task can be considered a success by meeting its objective. An intense activity has been deployed in screening candidate festivals, negotiating the program, organizing the logistics, discussing the topics with the scientific speakers, welcoming the public, discussing with the candidate artists, etc.

The Music Festival was the first opportunity of the project life to present the ASSET activities in the frame of an international general public event.

The fact that the video sequences of both the scientific and artistic parts can be watch in the dedicated YouTube Channel by everybody around the globe, will contribute to disseminate not only the scientific and prevention messages of the presentations, but also an example of an original MML action interacting with the general public.

Le projet

1. Les objectifs
 - accès à la musique classique pour tous
 - favoriser le succès scolaire des plus défavorisés
2. Le programme
 - démarrage en première année de maternelle (4 ans)
 - cursus "obligatoire" généralisé dans la classe
 - enseignement dans le cadre de l'école, pendant les heures habituelles de cours
 - 2 ou 3 leçons par semaine d'environ 40 minutes
 - attribution d'un violon personnalisé par enfant
3. La mise en oeuvre
 - un jardin d'enfants dans les quartiers nord de Zurich avec 110 enfants la première année, 160 dès la rentrée prochaine
 - deux classes de l'école de Martigny (40 enfants la première année, 60 à la rentrée prochaine)

The Varelle Foundation - 30 juillet 2016 2

Pourquoi une mesure d'impact ?

- Objectif de développement du projet besoin de preuves
- Existence préalable de diverses études sur l'impact de l'apprentissage de la musique

Les conclusions de ces études suggèrent que la musique accroît les scores au test du Q.I. (Schellenberg, Glenn, 2004), les capacités verbales (Bolduc, 2006 ; Ho et al., 2003), les acquisitions des concepts mathématiques (Bamberger, 2000) et les performances en mémoire (Lee et al., 2007). D'autres études ont en outre montré l'impact positif de la musique sur les performances scolaires (Mingat, Suchaut, 1994 ; Wetter et al., 2009). Selon tous ces travaux, la musique renforcerait les capacités de transferts des connaissances et elle agirait comme un catalyseur qui stimulerait le développement des capacités cognitives des enfants.

- Résultats toujours très encourageants, particulièrement pour ce qui touche au langage
- Résultats scolaires meilleurs pour les enfants qui jouent d'un instrument

The Varelle Foundation - 30 juillet 2016 3

Pourquoi une mesure d'impact ?

MAIS :

- absence de différenciation entre Écouter et Jouer
- échantillonnages souvent biaisés, les enfants qui apprennent un instrument sont le plus souvent issus de milieux aisés
- décalage entre le groupe test et l'échantillon de contrôle

The Varelle Foundation - 30 juillet 2016 4

Domaines à observer et mesurer

Mesure de l'impact global

Contrat avec une société spécialisée Swissocial, avec pour objectif de mesurer l'impact sur :

- le développement de l'enfant lui-même, à savoir :
 - capacités physiques
 - capacités intellectuelles
 - connaissances musicales
 - comportement social (en famille et au dehors)
 - jugement sur soi-même
 - connaissance musicale
- l'enfant dans son environnement (famille, classe, etc)
- son environnement immédiat

The Varelle Foundation - 30 juillet 2016 5

Approche Swissocial 1/1

- projet sur 5 ans avec évaluation annuelle
- comparaison du groupe projet avec le groupe de contrôle
- Groupe de contrôle homogène (même école, mêmes backgrounds socio-économiques)
- enseignants, étudiants de l'université ont été formés pour administrer le questionnaire développé par Swissocial
- critère d'âge pour la constitution des groupes. Les anomalies (écarts d'âges trop importants, handicaps) sont exclues du suivi d'impact
- quelques questions sont traitées par les parents
- base de données développée par Swissocial pour l'enregistrement et le traitement des données
- utilisation du SEDI (Socio Educational Development Index) de Swissocial

The Varelle Foundation - 30 juillet 2016 6

Approche Swissocial 2/2

Développement de 9 indicateurs au total permettant de mesurer l'évolution au fil des ans :

- coordination fine et mouvements du corps
- perception sensorielle, équilibre, vision
- fonctions cognitives (MoCA)
- maths, langage et lecture
- connaissances musicales
- comportement en famille et à l'extérieur
- auto-jugement, amour-propre
- dynamique familiale, implication à l'école
- capacité à communiquer

AIDS

In 1908 human cases connected with chimpanzee slaughtering in a village on Sangha river, Congo.

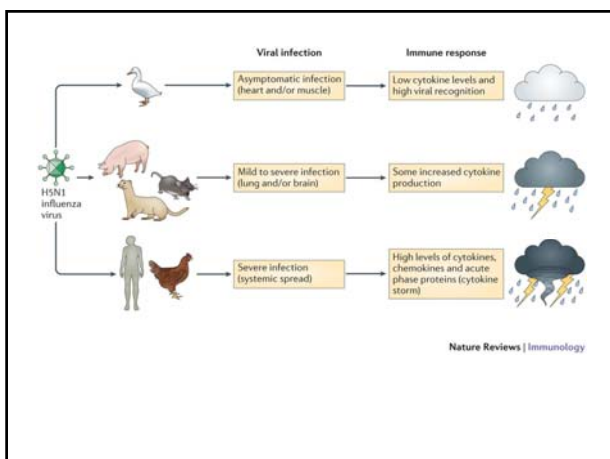

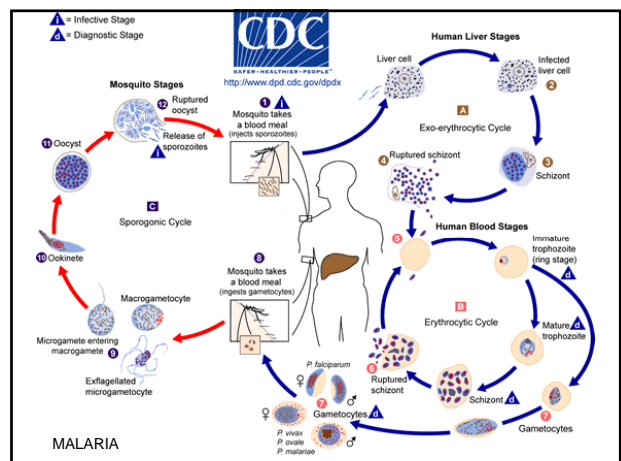

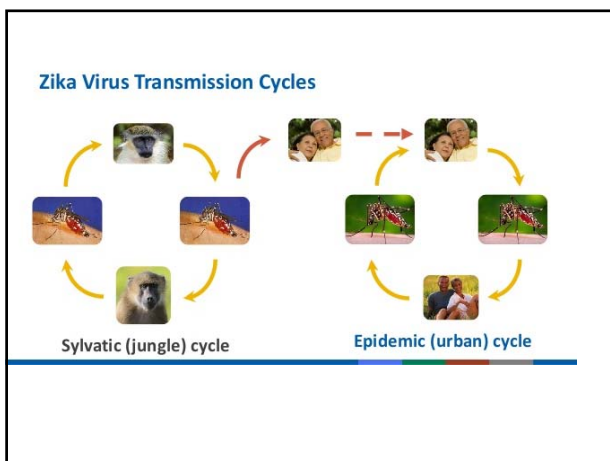

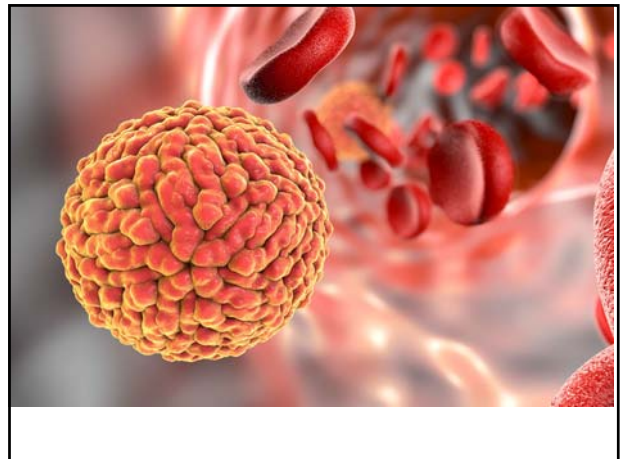

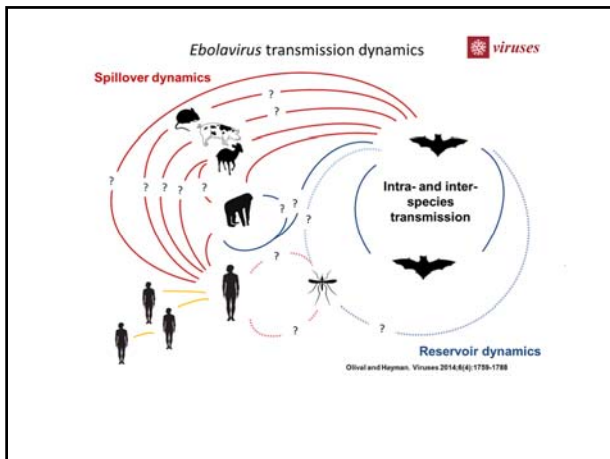

On this river reaches Brazzaville and Leopoldville trough sexual contacts

In 1980 an American steward collected 2560 different omo partners.

Ebola 1996

February 12, 1996 in Mayibout, a village along the Ivindo River in Gabon, was killed a chimpanzee; It was eaten by many people. Less than a week after 18 people became ill with fever, headache, bloody diarrhoea, vomiting, were transported to the hospital in Makokou dugout, 80 km. 4 died just arrived and the corpses reported to the village where they were celebrated traditional funerals, a fifth escaped from the hospital and returned to the village where he died.

communauté

La grippe espagnole a touché la Suisse en plusieurs vagues.
.....dans un contexte de guerre mondiale, les premiers cas ont été signalés en 1918 aux frontières du pays....puis en villages de l'intérieur (Château-d'Oex).
Très rapidement, l'épidémie s'est ensuite propagée dans la population civile. Il a été estimé que plus de 50% de la population de Genève a été affectée par la grippe en 1918.

LA GRIPPE ESPAGNOLE

Ce n'est pas une maladie nouvelle, mais une forme grave de grippe épidémique. Elle sévit dans l'Europe entière et elle est souvent mortelle.

L'expérience de ces derniers mois montre que La Mycolysine du docteur Doyen exerce contre cette maladie une influence à la fois préventive et curative en multipliant les défenses naturelles de l'organisme.

Pour se préserver, il faut absorber, pendant l'épidémie, le matin au petit déjeuner et au repas de midi, trois ou quatre cuillères à soupe d'Extrait de Mycolysine.

Dès qu'on ressent la moindre maladie ou lorsque la maladie vient de se déclarer, il faut recourir à la Mycolysine.

Demander plus de.....

Comprendre la communauté et savoir quoi faire pour améliorer la résistance communautaire

La résistance de la communauté est définie par des conditions de vulnérabilité et de qualités protectives préexistant qui déterminent la capacité de la communauté à entreprendre collectivement les actions pour atténuer l'impact de la pandémie

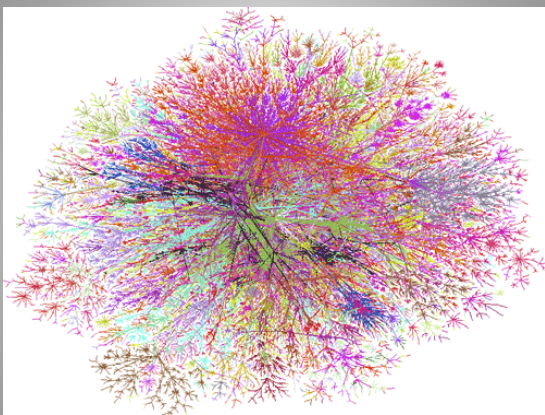

CDC, Course on pandemic preparedness

Les déterminants de la résistance communautaire

- La situation socio-économique
- Le capital social
- L'efficacité générale du système sanitaire
- Facteurs de stress social (politique, sociale)
- Cohésion sociale et perception de auto-efficacité

CDC, Course on pandemic preparedness

Comprendre la communauté et sa complexité

- Identifier symboles, valeurs et aspects sociaux communs utiles à unifier la communauté
- Promouvoir l'appartenance à la communauté.
- Solliciter les "opinion leaders" à jouer leur rôle
- Organiser des rencontres pour discuter points forts et faibles affectant la résistance communautaire

Merci pour votre attention!

Demander plus de participation et de collaboration des agences

- Augmente la responsabilité des agences en fournissant plus d'informations aux citoyens et en encourageant la participation du gouvernement
 - « le moins la communauté participe, le plus le gouvernement intervient »
- La participation communautaire est essentielle pour la réussite du gouvernement et la santé publique
 - « le moins tu participes, le plus ils t'imposent »
- La collaboration inter-agences est essentielle pour la réussite du gouvernement et la santé publique

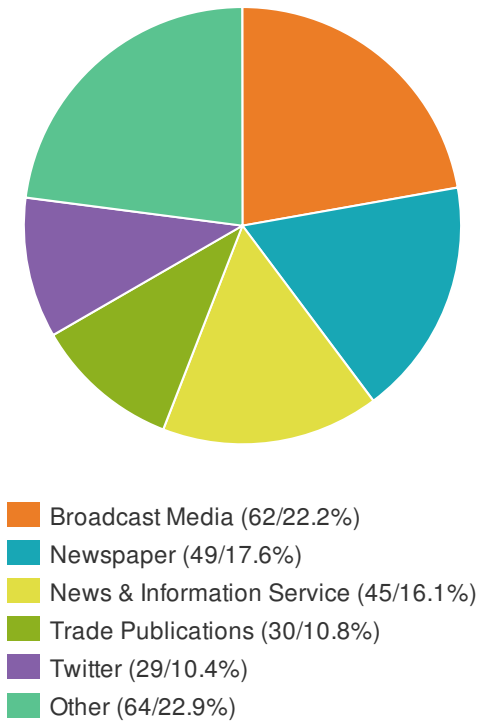

Lessons from the 1918 Pandemic Can Help Communities Today

Researchers studying the outcomes of the 1918 pandemic in dozens of U.S. cities have concluded that the speed of the public health response matters tremendously. Implementing multiple non-pharmaceutical interventions early in a local epidemic can save lives. As an example, the contrast of mortality outcomes in 1918 between Philadelphia and St. Louis is particularly striking. The first cases of disease among civilians in Philadelphia were reported on September 17, 1918, but authorities allowed large public gatherings, most notably a citywide parade on September 28, 1918, to continue. School closures, bans on public gatherings, and other social distancing interventions that reduce contacts between people were not implemented until October 3, when disease spread had already begun to overwhelm the city. In contrast, the first cases of disease among civilians in St. Louis were reported on October 5, and authorities introduced interventions essentially identical to those introduced in Philadelphia on October 7. The difference in response times between the two cities was approximately 14 days, when measured from the first reported cases. The costs of this delay were enormous. Philadelphia ultimately experienced a cumulative excess pneumonia and influenza death rate during the fall of 1918, more than twice that of St. Louis.
